thy works: and I will rejoice in giving praise for the operations of thy hands.

¶ Then a LESSON OF THE NEW TESTAMENT, as it is appointed.

¶ And after that shall be sung or said the Hymn called Nunc dimittis, as followeth.

} All rubrics printed in red

Nunc dimittis. St. Luke ii. 29.

LORD, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace: according to thy word.
For mine eyes have seen: thy salvation,
Which thou hast prepared: before the face of all people;
To be a light to lighten the Gentiles: and to be the glory of thy people Israel.

¶ Or else this Psalm; except it be on the twelfth day of the month.

} All rubrics printed in red

Deus misereatur. Psalm lxvii.

GOD be merciful unto us, and bless us: and show us the light of his countenance, and be merciful unto us;
That thy way may be known upon earth: thy saving health among all nations.
Let the people praise thee, O God: yea, let all the people praise thee.
O let the nations rejoice and be glad: for thou shalt judge the folk righteously, and govern the nations upon earth.
Let the people praise thee, O God: yea, let all the people praise thee.
Then shall the earth bring forth her increase: and God, even our own God, shall give us his blessing.
God shall bless us: and all the ends of the world shall fear him.

2 O grant that nothing in my soul
May dwell, but Thy pure love alone!
O may Thy love possess me whole,
My joy, my treasure, and my crown!
Strange flames far from my heart remove;
May every act, word, thought be love!

3 O love, how cheering is thy ray!
All pain before thy presence flies;
Care, anguish, sorrow melt away,
Where'er thy healing beams arise.
O Jesus, nothing may I see,
Nothing desire or seek, but Thee!

4 Still let Thy love point out my way!
What wondrous things Thy love hath wrought!
Still lead me, lest I go astray;
Direct my word, inspire my thought;
And if I fall, soon may I hear
Thy voice, and know that love is near.

5 In suffering, be Thy love my peace;
In weakness, be Thy love my power;
And when the storms of life shall cease,
Jesus, in that dark, final hour
Of death, be Thou my Guide and Friend,
That I may love Thee without end.
Amen.

THE BOOK OF COMMON PRAYER

20 EVENING PRAYER.

God, who confess their faults. Restore thou those who are penitent; According to thy promises declared unto mankind in Christ Jesus our Lord. And grant, O most merciful Father, for his sake; That we may hereafter live a godly, righteous, and sober life, To the glory of thy holy Name. Amen.

The Declaration of Absolution, or Remission of Sins.

¶ To be made by the Priest alone, standing; the People still kneeling.

ALMIGHTY God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who desireth not the death of a sinner, but rather that he may turn from his wickedness and live, hath given power, and commandment, to his Ministers, to declare and pronounce to his people, being penitent, the Absolution and Remission of their sins. He pardoneth and absolveth all those who truly repent, and unfeignedly believe his holy Gospel. Wherefore let us beseech him to grant us true repentance, and his Holy Spirit, that those things may please him which we do at this present; and that the rest of our life hereafter may be pure and holy; so that at the last we may come to his eternal joy; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

¶ Or this.

ALMIGHTY God, our heavenly Father, who of his great mercy hath promised forgiveness of sins to all those who, with hearty repentance and true faith, turn unto him; Have mercy upon you; pardon and deliver you from all your sins; confirm and strengthen you in all goodness; and bring you to everlasting life; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

¶ Then the Minister shall kneel, and say the Lord's Prayer; the People still kneeling, and repeating it with him.

OUR Father, who art in heaven, Hallowed be thy Name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done

56 THE PICKWICK CLUB

"Gentleman in the coffee-room, sir," replied the Boots, as Mr. Winkle opened the door, and confronted him; "gentleman says he'll not detain you a moment, sir, but he can take no denial."

"Very odd!" said Mr. Winkle; "I'll be down directly."

He hurriedly wrapped himself in a travelling-shawl and dressing-gown, and proceeded down-stairs. An old woman and a couple of waiters were cleaning the coffee-room, and an officer in undress uniform was looking out of the window. He turned round as Mr. Winkle entered, and made a stiff inclination of the head. Having ordered the attendants to retire, and closed the door very carefully, he said, "Mr. Winkle, I presume?"

Rebecca gave her, and as little Sharp was by no means too liberal with her money, no doubt it was for services rendered that Betty Martin was so bribed.

On the second day after Sir Pitt Crawley's offer to Miss Sharp, the sun rose as usual, and at the usual hour Betty Martin, the upstairs maid, knocked at the door of the governess's bed-chamber.

No answer was returned, and she knocked again. Silence was still uninterrupted; and Betty, with the hot water, opened the door and entered the chamber.

Phonographic Stationery.

The Phonographic Institute Loose-Leaf Tablet. This tablet possesses the following advantages, which make it the most convenient and most economic shorthand note-book for the use of shorthand writers:

1. It lies open on the table perfectly flat, there being no fold in the paper. 2. The paper is held in the cover by metal arches, strong and permanent in construction—superior to rubber elastic bands, which quickly decay, and to tapes, which are inconvenient both in turning the page and in removing a portion of the sheets. 3. The sheets can be removed and replaced quickly and easily. Any one or more of the sheets may be removed without disturbing the rest. 4. The page can be turned with perfect ease and convenience, as the polisht metal rings create no friction. 5. The triply-perforated sheets may be readily bound with tapes when removed from the tablet. In this way the notes of any single piece of work may be permanently preserved intact. 6. When notes are transcribed the tablet may be doubled back on itself and inserted in any kind of copy-holder, just as any other note-book, or it may be used itself as a copy-holder by standing it upright. 7. Perforated paper for refilling may be bought in any quantity, ruled with single or double lines, and suitable for use with pen or pencil. 8. The tablet is strongly made and will last for years.

N. B.—This tablet is especially adapted to the use of schools of shorthand. For this purpose it is provided with four guide-cards that separate the sheets into four divisions—Copying Exercises, Writing Exercises, Dictation Exercises, and Corrections. By the use of the tablet the student has his work in one compact cover and the guide-cards enable him to turn instantly to any of its divisions. When the student has finisht his school course the guide-cards may be removed and the tablet is ready for his regular daily use as a professional shorthand writer.

"The Book Without a Peer"

Worship and Song

(REVISED)

A Song Book Splendidly Adapted for the Church School, the Social Service or as a Church Hymnal

It Contains The Finest Hymns of the Church

The Old: Hymns which have proved their worth through centuries of use, which form a rich heritage of the Christian Church, old favorites like "Faith of Our Fathers," "O Come, All Ye Faithful," "How Firm a Foundation," "A Mighty Fortress is Our God," — you will find them all here, set to the tunes you have long known and loved.

The New: Newer voices, like Van Dyke, Kipling, Lanier, Gladden, and Oxenham, have their place too. Particular emphasis is placed on those hymns which express the growing consciousness of world brotherhood, hymns of Christian patriotism and social service which cannot fail to stir the imaginations and hearts of the young people. Among these are "In Christ There is no East nor West," "Send Down Thy Truth," "Not Alone for Mighty Empire," and Lowell's great poem, "Once to Every Man and Nation."

Simple, Dignified Worship Services

Centered around a unifying idea, such as gratitude, praise, consecration, obedience, these orders of worship are adapted for use in schools of all sizes, for special days like Christmas and Easter, or for the opening and closing of the regular church-school sessions. A very popular feature of the old edition, in their revised form they should be even more valuable. For those who wish to make their own orders of services, — superintendents, pastors, leaders of young people's societies, etc., — this new edition includes many beautiful prayers, responses, sentences and benedictions, together with suggested outlines for services.

Returnable copies of the REVISED WORSHIP AND SONG will be gladly sent on request. Address THE PILGRIM PRESS, 14 Beacon Street, Boston, or 19 West Jackson Street, Chicago, Illinois.

A Series of Twenty Simple Lessons in Isaac Pitman's System of Phonography. The principles are introduced in an entirely new order and with certain groupings that have never previously been adopted. The learner is enabled to write separate words in the first lesson, is introduced to sentence-writing in the third, and to the " halving principle " in the fourth lessons. The whole of the explanatory matter, with the essential exercises illustrating this, is contained in 98 pages.

There is, however, an appendix with a generous supply of additional reading and writing exercises. The principle of word-building is applied throughout the book, so that the student greatly extends his shorthand vocabulary with each succeeding lesson and without conscious effort.

Position-writing is introduced with the first lesson, and Phraseography with the diphthongs. The exercises partake largely of the nature of business correspondence, and commercial phraseology is frequently employed in other exercises. Each lesson concludes with a very brief re-statement of the rules explained in the lesson.

The most complete and educative exercise book for shorthand students ever published.

"Pitman's Shorthand Drill" seeks to correct many of the shortcomings of the ordinary dictation book by first recognizing the fact that speed comes only as the result of drill; first a drill on the shorthand principles, then on the grammalogs, contractions, and phrases. No amount of shorthand writing from dictation can take the place of such drill.

Nathan Behrin, holder of the world's record for speed and accuracy, says: "'Pitman's Shorthand Drill' is as far superior to any other dictation book that I have ever seen as Pitman's Shorthand is superior to any other existing system of shorthand."

††The Stenographic Expert. 264 pp., cloth, $2.25. By WILLARD B. BOTTOME and W. F. SMART.

Contains 96 pages of Isaac Pitman engraved shorthand notes.

The desire of every ambitious stenographer is "to sit in the reporter's chair" in court, and to reach the object of his ambition it is absolutely necessary that he familiarize himself not only with the best methods of acquiring speed and accuracy, but the forms, technical practice, and procedure of the court room. This can be done only in two ways: by slowly and laboriously learning through the few opportunities for practice work that present themselves from time to time, or to profit from the experiences of others.

"The Stenographic Expert" is the embodiment of the experience of its authors in every step of shorthand work from the humblest commercial office to the reporter's chair in the Supreme Court. Nothing is omitted and no detail is left unexplained.

VOCATIONAL AND ART WORKS

The Art of Painting in Pastel. 189 pp., and 40 full page colored plates and 15 other illustrations, cloth, gilt, $5.00.
By J. LITTLEJOHNS, R.B.A., and L. RICHMOND, R.B.A.

A book which has the special advantage of having been written and illustrated by two artists of repute who have a thorough knowledge of pastel, and use it habitually with power and distinction. Their technical directions are practical and intelligible, and are calculated not only to assist the student greatly in his work, but to enable the art lover to grasp surely the principles by which all pastel painting that is to be reckoned as sound and legitimate should be directed. The sections into which the book is divided cover adequately the whole ground over which the pastel-painter is likely to travel, and the explanatory text is ample for all educational purposes; and the illustrations deserve high praise for their artistic merit and quality.

The book will be very helpful for those making a specialty of children's garments, and particularly interesting and helpful to an instructor who expects to teach the making of garments. It should be added to all libraries of art text-books."—Journal of Home Economics (New York).

"With the present high cost of clothes of all kinds it will be welcomed by home demonstration agents and other social workers who help mothers to spin out adequate work."—The Survey (New York).

"His book is a plea for sound teaching: it may be called in the best sense, Academic. He states his views clearly and buttresses his position by the authority of many eminent artists whom he has known, as well as by that of the great masters of the past; and his conclusions are not likely to be challenged. . . . Mr. Hartrick rightly desires to bring to the study of drawing, and also to the schools, something of the free outlook with which we face the world in daily life, so that there shall be real impulse and search for expression behind the work done."—GEORGE CLAUSEN, R.A., in the Foreword.

Drawing and Design. 10 by 7½ in. 224 pp., 18 plates in color, and 148 other illustrations and diagrams. Cloth, $5.35. By SAMUEL CLEGG.

A School Course in Composition. This book should be particularly useful in a girls' school or in a mixed school, for special attention is paid to design in needlework. Art and craft work are linked together. The subject of lettering and manuscript writing is treated suggestively as part of the course in Art.

Drawing from Memory and Mind Picturing. 6¾ by 8½ in. 60 pp., plus 43 full-page plates, $3.00. By R. CATTERSON-SMITH, M.A. Edited by F. MORLEY FLETCHER.

"All who are concerned with the teaching of art have become aware that accomplished studies in drawing or painting may be made and yet leave the student with little or no increase of artistic power. Studies in mere representation seem to exercise only a superficial faculty, and may be carried on without stirring deeper perceptions. They frequently add nothing to the memory that is of use, and may lead to no increase of the store of remembered form upon which inventive design depends.

"Mr. Catterson-Smith has given many years of labor and research to the study of memory training for artistic purposes, and in this book gives his matured opinions and a series of remarkable results gained by methods he has devised. His pioneer work covers new ground untouched by earlier authorities. His results and his ingenious methods provide a new resource in art teaching, and increase our knowledge of latent powers that may be trained to great uses in the art of the future."—Prefatory Note by the Editor.

This is the only work in the English language dealing with the subject. The eminence of the Author in the world of art makes the book of first importance, and it should find a place in the library of everyone concerned with art, if only for the beauty of the illustrations and the innate excellence of the book as a whole.

THE ENCYCLOPAEDIA AND DICTIONARY OF EDUCATION

This great English Encyclopaedia, which has taken nearly ten years to prepare, is being published in four handsome volumes of about 500 pp. each, and contains 2,250 separate articles by specialists in all parts of the world on the various subjects. The price of the complete set is $25.00. Separate volumes, $6.50 each.

The general Editor, Professor Foster Watson, M.A., D.Litt., is one of the most distinguished scholars of the day, and a well-known contributor to various important standard works, and a writer of great repute. Under the Editor's personal direction, every care has been taken to make the Encyclopaedia as comprehensive, up-to-date, and reliable as possible.

During the last few years the evolution of educational theory and practice in all branches has been particularly rapid, and educationists of all countries have made enormous and important contributions to the literature on Education. The very mass of such literature makes an educational gazetteer of wide information imperative. An encyclopaedia is not only a gazetteer of types and movements, it is also, within certain limits, so to say, a series of descriptive maps, of theory, practice, methods, organization, and administration of education. It is, further, a vast domain of modern civilization. It is a guide-book on a large scale, but it also contains the outline of a great inheritance, the tradition from the past and tradition in the making in the present, the guarantees of the hope for the future of the world.

It is the manifest business of all on whom the education of the nation in any measure devolves to keep pace with educational progress. All concerned with teaching, those connected in any way with educational organization and administration, publicists, parents and students, simply cannot afford to do without this great work, which will give them vital information concerning education as it is to-day. Authors and compilers of educational text-books, and writers on educational subjects generally, will find it a reference book of inestimable value.

The educational systems of not only the English-speaking countries, but of practically every country in the world, have been outlined, in most cases by educationists whose spheres of work have lain in those particular countries. Clear, accurate, and succinct accounts by those foremost in educational circles are given of all types of teaching institutions in the British Isles and Dominions ; among the American contributors appear such well-known names as Paul Monroe, Ph.D., LL.D., John Dewey, Ph.D., LL.D., and C. H. Judd, Ph.D., LL.D.

An important feature of the work is the illuminative list of articles on the scientific theory of education, embracing the psychological, the medical, and other rapidly changing aspects on which well-known educationists and other experts from all parts of the world have made up-to-date contributions.

While considerable space has been devoted to the theory and practice of education, the historical aspect has also received careful attention. Due prominence has been given to the lives and teachings of great educationists and others who have made important contributions, although less directly, to education.

This book on Credits has been written at the earnest request of a large number of bankers and commercial men with whom the Author, in the course of his banking experience, has from time to time discussed the many and troublesome questions that frequently arise in connection with those puzzling documents known as " Bankers' Credits." The subject is an intricate one, and the great extension of credit and banking facilities brought about by the war has not made it easier for business men to understand the banker's point of view in these matters. In the pages dealing with American credits, the Author has received hearty co-operation from American bankers, and many master minds in the sphere of foreign banking have helped the Author in compiling a useful and reliable treatise.

" Deals with the subject of Bankers' Credits in a simple and practical way. It fills a need which has been felt for quite some time, and particularly since the war, by both bankers and those engaged in foreign trade. The book is well illustrated, concisely written, and care has been taken not only to explain the many and varied forms of Bankers' Credits in existence, but also to consider the cases that have come before the courts from time to time."—Magazine of Wall Street.

The present volume is the outcome of an endeavour to collect and to classify, in as brief a form as possible, the more important information relating to the subject of High-speed Internal Combustion Engines, as viewed from the theoretical and experimental sides.

"The recent rapid development of the high-speed internal combustion engine has left the book literature of the subject somewhat in arrears; a British author here endeavors to remedy this situation with a work devoted exclusively to this type. He has selected the most important results, both theoretical and experimental, for careful analysis; has arranged these results and analyses in an orderly manner; and, realizing the influence of experimental work upon design, has added a chapter on the methods of measuring the pressures in the cylinders of high-speed engines. Other chapters deal with the conditions occurring in actual engines, the mechanics of the high-speed engine, and engine balance. The volume collects and classifies very important information that might not otherwise be readily available."—Scientific American (New York).

Each 4 by 6½ in., about 120 pp., illustrated, cloth, 85c.

THIS new series of Technical Primers is intended to enable the reader to obtain the very necessary foundation of a clear appreciation of first principles and basic facts in any particular branch of technology. Each author, who is in every case an expert in the branch of industry, engineering, or science concerned, has endeavored to present a sound technical survey of fundamental facts, principles, equipment, and practice.

Such a treatment of individual subjects is invaluable to students, apprentices, foremen, charge hands, and craftsmen ; and many volumes will be useful to engineers in practice and to commercial managers and works managers of industrial concerns.

Automatic Pistols. 5½ by 8½ in. 110 pp., with 72 illustrations and numerous tables, cloth, $2.00. By Captain HUGH B. C. POLLARD.

"Captain Pollard's Automatic Pistols is a most excellent volume. One can hardly believe that such a great amount of information can be compressed between the covers of a 106-page book, yet the author apparently has omitted nothing of value or interest. Every notable make of automatic pistol in the world is illustrated and described, and their manner of working explained. The reader is plainly told what pistols are best for military use, for hunting, for pocket use, and target shooting. The chapters on 'How to Shoot,' 'Cleaning and Equipment,' 'Selecting a Pistol,' and 'Ammunition and Ballistics' are unusually good, and very helpful to both amateur and expert. The tables given in the appendices are also very valuable. It gives us much pleasure to recommend this book."—WILLIS O. C. ELLIS, Query Editor, National Sportsman's Arms and Munitions Department.

The
Christian Life Bible

(Copyright 1906, by James Pott & Co.)

"The most helpful and valuable aid to the reading and understanding of the Word produced in a generation."

The Main Points in Scripture

AS BROUGHT OUT IN

The Christian Life Bible

SUBJECTS — The five subjects or great themes which are here presented in colors may be said to form the heart of all Bible truth. There are many who wish to know what the Word of God has to say respecting Sin and the means by which it is overcome.

SCHEME — By orderly steps the reader can now follow the very language of the Scripture as it first pictures Sin, and then puts over against it Christ, with Faith on man's part leading to Love and Salvation.

COLORS — The choicest passages from all parts of the Bible have been brought together and arranged in colors.

Sin	Scarlet
Christ	Gold
Faith	Blue
Love	Purple
Salvation	Green

ESSENTIAL SCRIPTURE TRUTH

The following are the Vital Bible Themes with their headings as presented in

The Christian Life Bible

THEME	HEADINGS
Sin	Nature, Examples, Results, Divine Feeling toward Penalty, Remedy Repentance and Forgiveness.
Christ	Son of Man, Son of God, Sinless, Atoning, Risen, Ministering, Exalted.
Faith	Relies on God, Honors His Word, Centres in Christ, Renews the Believer, Endures Trial, Certainly Triumphs, Produces Joy and Love.
Love	God is Love, His Love to Us, Our Love to Him, Lord and Disciple, Christian Brotherhood, Man and Neighbor, Love Abideth.
Salvation	Plan, Conditions, The Spirit's Work, Assurance, Power, Service, Eternal Reward.

Advantages of the Christian Life Bible

THE Bible's best thoughts in the very words of Scripture are placed at a glance before the reader —each great theme in its own color.

The great simplicity of this work is such that it requires no key or intricate system of reference and is readily understood at once by all.

The saving of time, heretofore necessary in searching out the Concordance references to these subjects, will be clearly apparent.

"TEACHERS' HELPS THAT ARE REAL AIDS"

CAMBRIDGE BIBLICAL ENCYCLOPEDIA

These Bibles contain the Biblical Encyclopedia, based on the Cambridge Companion to the Bible, the work of the most eminent scholars at the Cambridge University, the object of which is to provide Sunday-school teachers and other students with a concise book of reference to the Bible.

In the Encyclopedia much useful matter has been compressed into a small space and the arrangement of helps in alphabetical form will be found most convenient for the purpose of ready reference.

CAMBRIDGE CONCORDANCE

included in all Cambridge Teachers' Bibles, is most practicable and contains all important references.

CAMBRIDGE CENTRE-COLUMN REFERENCES

Have been re-edited and revised throughout and in this edition full use has been made of the late Prebendary Scrivener's invaluable work on the References which was first published in the Cambridge Paragraph Bible.

CAMBRIDGE INDIA PAPER

For whiteness, opaqueness, thinness and toughness, the new Cambridge India Paper is generally declared by experts to be the equal of, if not superior to, any thin paper now used in Bibles.

ASSYRIA and BABYLONIA were the two great Eastern empires before which all the old states of Syria and Palestine fell. We learn their history partly from the Bible narrative and also from contemporary monuments written in cuneiform characters and recently deciphered.

Babylonia or Shinar (Gen. 10. 10) is the alluvial country on the lower course of the Euphrates and Tigris, of which Babel or Babylon was the chief city. Assyria, or Asshur, occupied the Tigris valley to the north of Babylonia. Its centre lay on the left bank of the Tigris, where the great city of Nineveh stood, opposite Mosul. Babylon and Nineveh were long rivals, but they had a common civilisation, of which the southern alluvium was the original home. Their language was Semitic, but in the southern

ACTS 18

9 Then spake the Lord to Paul in the night by a vision, Be not afraid, but speak, and hold not thy peace:
10 For I am with thee, and no man shall set on thee to hurt thee: for I have much people in this city.
11 And he continued there a year and six months, teaching the word of God among them.
12 ¶ And when Gäl'li-ō was the deputy of A-chä'-ia, the Jews made insurrection with one accord against Paul, and brought him to the judgment seat,
13 Saying, This fellow persuadeth men to worship God contrary to the law.
14 And when Paul was now about to open his mouth, Gäl'li-o said unto the Jews, If it were a matter of wrong or wicked lewdness, O ye Jews, reason would that I should bear with you
15 But if it be a question of words and names, and of your law, look ye to it; for I will be no judge of such matters.
16 And he drave them from the judgment seat.
but he himself entered into the synagogue, and reasoned with the Jews.
20 When they desired him to tarry longer time with them, he consented not;
21 But bade them farewell, saying, I must by all means keep this feast that cometh in Je-ru'sä-lĕm: but I will return again unto you, if God will. And he sailed from Eph'ĕ-sŭs.
22 And when he had landed at Cæsa-rē'a, and gone up, and saluted the church, he went down to An'ti-ŏch.
23 And after he had spent some time there, he departed, and went over all the country of Gā-lā'tia and Phrȳg'i-a in order, strengthening all the disciples.
24 ¶ And a certain Jew named A-pŏl'los, born at Al-ĕx-ăn'dri-a, an eloquent man, and mighty in the scriptures, came to Eph'ĕ-sŭs.
25 This man was instructed in the way of the Lord; and being fervent in the spirit, he spake and taught diligently the things of the Lord, knowing only the baptism of John.
26 And he began to speak

JESUS, thy boundless love to me
No thought can reach, no tongue declare;
O knit my thankful heart to thee,
And reign without a rival there!
Thine wholly, thine alone, I am;
Be thou alone my constant flame.

2 O grant that nothing in my soul
May dwell, but thy pure love alone!
O may thy love possess me whole,
My joy, my treasure, and my crown!
Strange flames far from my heart remove;
May every act, word, thought be love!

EVENING PRAYER. 19

sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness. 1 St. John i. 8, 9.

LET us humbly confess our sins unto Almighty God.

¶ Or else he shall say as followeth.

DEARLY beloved brethren, the Scripture moveth us, in sundry places, to acknowledge and confess our manifold sins and wickedness; and that we should not dissemble nor cloak them before the face

HYMNAL

222 SUNDAYS AFTER TRINITY

229 Six 8's

JESUS, thy boundless love to me
No thought can reach, no tongue declare;
O knit my thankful heart to thee,
And reign without a rival there!
Thine wholly, thine alone, I am;
Be thou alone my constant flame.

2 O grant that nothing in my soul
May dwell, but thy pure love alone!
O may thy love possess me whole,
My joy, my treasure, and my crown!
Strange flames far from my heart remove;
May every act, word, thought be love!

Hymnody

The Hymnal (Revision of 1911)

Prepared by the same committee that compiled THE HYMNAL, and, like that, edited by Louis F. Benson, D.D. The rapid changes of our time and the varying emphasis on one or another line of religious work prompted a revision of THE HYMNAL of 1895, and the Board was fortunate in being able to secure the services of those who made the former book. This marks, we think, the highest point of merit reached by any hymn book up to this time, and is now the standard church book of praise of our denomination, authorized by the General Assembly.

The English Hymn

Its development and use in worship.

LOUIS F. BENSON, D.D.

624 pages. $3.50 net, postpaid

"This book is a credit to American learning, and Dr. Benson is to be congratulated on the value of his work. The hymn occupies to-day an important place in the public worship of the Church. Dr. Benson traces its beginning and tells of the services of the hymn in connection with the evangelical revival and other movements that have affected the English-speaking world. The concluding chapter on 'Twentieth Century Hymnody' deals with the new needs which are now being realized for a type of hymn which will at once express the spiritual and social aspirations and activities of the Church. It is interesting to see how the hymn grew, and it is instructive to notice the serious opposition which congregational singing encountered through the history of the Church. The author is an authority on the subject and so thoroughly has the work been done that no aspect of the subject has been overlooked."—Herald and Presbyter.

The Truth About Christian Science

JAMES H. SNOWDEN, D.D., LL.D.

This book is perhaps the most vigorous, comprehensive indictment of the origin, history, doctrines and doings of Christian Science that has ever yet appeared within the covers of a single volume.—Boston Herald.

"Dr. Snowden does a genuine service to humanity. While showing plainly that Christian Science is neither Christian nor scientific, he gladly recognizes the large element of truth underlying this cult; truth which the Church recognized during the early centuries but which she neglected during the last fifteen."—American Church Sunday School Magazine.

Our Reasonable Faith

By PARK HAYS MILLER

For Thoughtful Young People and Adults, as well as Pastors

This book deals with four subjects: The Bible, in which the revelation of God to man has been preserved; the great truths revealed in the Scripture and proved by experience; the Commandments as the law of conduct; and the Church, through which the truth has been preserved, by which the truth is taught, and in connection with which the Christian finds spiritual nurture and a field for service.

It was written to meet the need of thoughtful young people and adults, who may be perplexed by some of the problems of the Christian truth. The book has grown out of the author's own experience and his dealings with others who were facing the problems discussed in the volume.

Pastors will find it helpful to present to members of their congregations. It will make a fine basis for discussion in study classes.

ART AND ARCHAEOLOGY

*The Princeton Monographs in Art and Archaeology

This series covers in the widest sense the history of European art, from the Archaic Greek period to comparatively recent times. A format for the Monographs has been chosen which permits adequate plates and a clear and sightly text. The page size is 7¾ by 10½ and duotone ink has been used on heavy coated paper. Eleven Monographs have already been published, while others are in preparation. The published works follow:

I. Della Robbias in America

By ALLAN MARQUAND, Professor of Art and Archaeology in Princeton University.
Illustrated. $5 net; by mail, $5.15

Contains all the examples of Robbia ware in America. It contains adequate information for the average reader about the three generations of Robbias, and at the same time offers to specialists critical discussions of all the Robbias in America.

* Titles so marked are subject to a limited discount.

II. Problems in Periclean Buildings

By G. W. ELDERKIN, Assistant Professor of Art and Archaeology in Princeton University.
Illustrated. $2 net; by mail, $2.10

Contains four essays offering new solutions for three of the most difficult problems in Athenian Architecture. Most interesting, perhaps, is the explanation of the irregularities of the Propylaea and Erechtheum. This monograph has particular interest for students of ancient architecture and Athenian antiquities.

III. Luca della Robbia

By ALLAN MARQUAND, Professor of Art and Archaeology in Princeton University.
Illustrated. $10 net; by mail, $10.20

In assembling the work of the founder of the Robbia school the author has been able to add more than a score of monuments to the previous lists. In all, 105 monuments are registered. This work has been commended in the press for a high degree of literary attractiveness, based on taste which expresses itself without either obscurity or overemphasis. It must for years remain the fundamental authority on the subject.

"It is an admirably complete and scholarly monograph on one of the most charming phases of Italian Art, that can be read with interest by the neophyte and must be taken as an authority by the student."—New York Sun.

IV. Lost Mosaics and Frescoes of Rome

By CHARLES R. MOREY, Professor of Art and Archaeology in Princeton University.
Illustrated. $3 net; by mail, $3.10

A publication of drawings contained in the collection made by the Commendatore Cassiano dal Pozzo, now in the Royal Library, Windsor Castle. With two exceptions all the mosaics and frescoes belong to Roman art of the twelfth and thirteenth centuries, the period known as the first phase of the "renaissance."

"Professor Morey's monograph, with its intrinsically interesting drawings and prints reproduced with admirable craftsmanship, its combination of painstaking accuracy and aesthetic presentation, is an honor to the press from which it issues."—New York Sun.

V. Mediaeval Church Vaulting

By CLARENCE WARD, Professor of the History of Art and Director of the Art Museum, Oberlin College.
Illustrated. $5 net; by mail, $5.15

A concise and clear view of the entire subject. It is a book that should appeal as strongly to the practicing architect as to the student of the history of art.

"In fullness and logic of presentation the book adequately fulfils its purpose; while unhackneyed photographs, clear typography and becoming form make it a pleasure to read."—The Dial.

VI. Early Christian Iconography and a School of Ivory Carvers in Provence

By E. BALDWIN SMITH, Assistant Professor of Art and Archaeology in Princeton University.
Illustrated. $7 net; by mail, $7.20

A scholarly treatise, attractive to the layman, and indispensable to the student. It is a fascinating study of various attempts to portray sacred scenes in early Christian art.

VII. Robbia Heraldry

By ALLAN MARQUAND, Professor of Art and Archaeology in Princeton University.
Illustrated. $10 net; by mail, $10.30

A neglected series of Robbia works of art are the coats of arms which include those of the principal families of Florence. This series comprises many not found in the best known dictionaries and presents others in new forms; as they are arranged in historical sequence it is possible to assign a date to many undated monuments. There are 279 illustrations.

VIII. Giovanni della Robbia

By ALLAN MARQUAND, Professor of Art and Archaeology in Princeton University.
Illustrated. $10 net; by mail, $10.25

Contains geneological and documentary material published for the first time, followed by a Catalogue Raisonné of the works of Giovanni and his atelier, and a Bibliography and Index which should add to the practical utility of this volume. It cannot but be a real contribution to the history of art to have assembled some three hundred works which may be attributed to Giovanni della Robbia, and to have arranged them more or less definitely in a chronological series.

IX. Benedetto and Santi Buglioni

By ALLAN MARQUAND, Professor of Art and Archaeology in Princeton University.
Illustrated. $10 net; by mail, $10.25

This volume contains biographical sketches of Benedetto and Santi Buglioni together with discussions of their works and style; a complete catalogue of monuments with 148 illustrations; and a full bibliography and index.

X. The Portraits of Dante

By FRANK JEWETT MATHER, JR., Professor of Art and Archaeology in Princeton University.
Illustrated. $3.50 net; by mail, $3.70

Professor Mather, by the scrupulous use of the measurements of Dante's skull and their graphic application to the problem of the portraits seems to have put beyond dispute the fact that the Palatine Miniature is the most authentic likeness. Also he has given a more acceptable account of the sources of Raphael's Dante than we have had hitherto, as well as an improved classification of the minor and eccentric types.

XI. Andrea della Robbia

By ALLAN MARQUAND, Professor of Art and Archaeology in Princeton University.
Illustrated. 2 vols. $15 net; by mail, $15.30

These two volumes contain more biographical material on Andrea della Robbia than has been published before, together with an increased series of documents; also a larger catalogue of monuments arranged in chronological sequence, with bibliographical, topical, and geographical indexes. In volume one are found the works in which the personal hand of Andrea is to be recognized; in the second, works of his atelier.

The set of eleven monographs may be had for $60 postpaid.

ADDITIONAL VOLUMES ARE IN PREPARATION

Pots and Pans; Studies in Still Life Painting*

By Arthur Edwin Bye, Curator of Paintings, Pennsylvania Museum.
Illustrated. $6 net; by mail, $6.20

While countless volumes have been published dealing with art, no volume is known which discusses the particular problem of still life painting, either historically or aesthetically. The author's aim has been to remedy this apparent lack. Still life painting is a modest art. The pots and pans, the fruit and flowers, the humble elements composing a still life picture make the painter and his art as simple as themselves. So it is that Professor Bye has presented in as simple a way as possible the charm of still life painting and its historic development.

Part IV—Semitic Inscriptions
By Enno Littmann $10 net

A majority of these 233 Semitic inscriptions are here published for the first time.

A book that is timely and which will sweep away the misconceptions which many people have as to why prices are high or why they are low. Knowledge of the facts contained in this book will do much to prevent a repetition of the financial difficulties encountered by the people of this country since the Great War.

The Single Tax Movement in the United States

By Arthur Nichols Young, Instructor in Economics and Social Institutions, Princeton University. (Second printing). $1.75 net; by mail, $1.85

This is the first complete historical, non-controversial account of the single tax movement in the United States. It contains a discussion of the single tax program, the present status of the movement, and its influence upon economic thought and upon fiscal and social reform.

After a survey of the chief anticipations of Henry George's doctrines the formulation of his economic ideas is traced in the light of the economic environment amid which he spent the formative years of his life. Then follows a description of the reception of "Progress and Poverty" and of George's activities in spreading his gospel. Succeeding chapters describe the development of the single tax movement through the recent political campaigns. Finally there is a consideration of the general aspects of the movement and an appraisal of its significance.

"With its maximum of condensed information and minimum of personal opinion, far ahead of all competitors as a compendium for students and inquirers."—Journal of Political Economy.

Illustrated; colored maps. $1 net; by mail, $1.10

The original home of this great race has long been the subject of research by archaeologists, anthropologists and philologists. Professor Bender believes the problem is a philological one and it is by the study and use of language that he approaches it. His conclusions must merit the careful consideration of all who are interested in solving one of the most fascinating riddles of human history.

The Planters of Colonial Virginia

By THOMAS J. WERTENBAKER, Associate Professor of History in Princeton University.
$2.50 net; by mail, $2.60

An extremely valuable and readable account of the settling of the colony of Virginia, how it came to be settled and the kind of people who settled there. Professor Wertenbaker has collected much new material and gives quite a different picture of colonial Virginia from the one usually painted. Complete rent rolls of the Virginia counties for the year 1704 add much to the interest and value of the book.

The First Crusade

Translated and edited, with maps and notes, by AUGUST CHARLES KREY, Associate Professor of History in the University of Minnesota. $3 net; by mail, $3.15

More than eight hundred years have passed since Christian Europe first roused itself to arms to wrest the Holy Land from the grip of the Infidel. The story of the crusades is always full of interest. And the story of the First Crusade—the most successful of all—as related by those who witnessed it and participated in it, is now made available for the English reader for the first time. Professor Krey's translations show us with remarkable clearness the romance, the hardships, and the accomplishments of those early Christians who were animated by the highest of motives in their march Eastward. They present a colorful picture of the Middle Ages.

Plans had been made to celebrate in 1915 the three hundredth anniversary of the inauguration of this enterprise, but the war of course made it impossible. Dr. Delehaye, however, who is in charge of the work at present has written this book giving the history of the work of the Bollandists from its beginning down to the present time.

The Decline of Western Civilization

By Oswald Spengler In preparation

This volume by Dr. Spengler, the famous mathematician and historian, has created a sensation all over the world. Twenty-three editions have been printed in Europe and the Princeton University Press considers itself fortunate in having been able to make arrangements to publish this book in the United States. Dr. Spengler's method of writing history is new and seemingly more reliable than any employed heretofore.

Tales of an Old Sea Port

By Wilfred Harold Munro, of Brown University.
$1.50 net; by mail, $1.60

In these days of revived interest in American shipbuilding and seafaring, these stories have a particular appeal.

If you like stories about the sailors of long ago, true stories about the men who founded the American merchant marine you will enjoy this book. The San Francisco Chronicle says that to say "these true stories are much more thrilling than most fiction is but a colorless way of stating the case."

Virginia Under the Stuarts

By Thomas J. Wertenbaker, Associate Professor of History, Princeton University. $1.50 net; by mail, $1.60

Original documents unearthed within recent years necessitated a revision of the early history of Virginia.

The New Purchase

Edited by PROFESSOR JAMES ALBERT WOODBURN, Professor of History at Indiana University.
Illustrated. $2.50 net; by mail, $2.60

This is a reprint of a work which has been pronounced "one of the best books ever written concerning life in the West." The author was Baynard Rush Hall, who published the first edition under the name of Robert Carleton, Esq., in 1843. This makes available a handsome reprint of a volume long since out of print, the original edition being now difficult to find and expensive to buy. This reprint contains the original copy without modification or expurgation. There is no more valuable book on early Indiana and none gives a more interesting picture of one phase of our early American history.

Mexican War Diary of George B. McClellan

Edited by WILLIAM STARR MYERS, Professor of Politics, Princeton University.
Illustrated. $1 net; by mail, $1.10

Gen. McClellan's campaign journal, from the time of his departure from West Point, a newly commissioned Second Lieutenant of Engineers, in the early summer of 1846, through the Battle of Cerro Gordo, April, 1847.

He writes vividly of Mexico, the land and the people; and his entries made in odd moments form a fine picture of life in camp and field, march and siege. Operations about Tampico and Vera Cruz are described; young officers who were to gain distinction in the Civil War are mentioned, and the sufferings of the untrained "Mustang" (volunteer) troops are depicted. In its humor, its frankness, its clearness and cogency of style, the book is all "soldier stuff." The illustrations reproduce an old daguerrotype, a page of the Diary in McClellan's writing, and a picture drawn by him in the Diary.

It is more entertaining than many novels, and it has historical value.

Andrew Johnson: Military Governor of Tennessee

By CLIFTON R. HALL, Assistant Professor of History and Politics in Princeton University. $1.50 net; by mail, $1.60

This book traces the personality of Andrew Johnson through the years 1862-65, when the burden of military government and reconstruction in Tennessee rested principally upon his shoulders. The author has shown how the lessons learned by Johnson in reconstructing his own State constituted a training for the work to which he was so suddenly and unexpectedly called in a national capacity, as his attitude as President toward the principles of reconstruction was, in most respects, a natural consequence of his experience as Military Governor of Tennessee.

The Gothic History of Jordanes

With an introduction and a commentary by CHARLES C. MIEROW, Professor of Classics, Colorado College.

$1.75 net; by mail, $1.85

This translation makes available Jordanes' excellent history of the Goths written in 551 A.D. Jordanes states in his preface that his work is an abridgement of Cassiodorus' "History of the Goths in Twelve Volumes" with information added from other writers. This larger history was lost so that Jordanes is our only source for many important events in Gothic history.

England and Germany, 1740-1914

By BERNADOTTE EVERLY SCHMITT, Professor of History in Western Reserve University. $2.50 net; by mail, $2.60

This book presents the subject of Anglo-German relations from 1740 to the eve of the Great War, in a straightforward and impartial manner. In it, facts and documents have been called upon for their own conclusions, which are coördinated by the author. All the evidence presented on either side is official and every possible attempt has been made to present only the fairest and most inevitable conclusions. Adequate maps are appended. This work has been adopted by several universities for supplementary reading.

Protestantism in Germany

By KERR D. MACMILLAN, President of Wells College.

$2 net; by mail, $2.10

The author writes of Luther and Lutheranism, and German national character. His book, however, is not a life of Luther, nor a complete history of Lutheranism. Based on the great Reformer's life and influence, it presents an analysis of German thought and government that helps to explain Germany's work in the Great War.

It also affords a fresh insight into Calvinism as contrasted with Lutheranism.

The Mikado: Institution and Person

By WILLIAM ELLIOT GRIFFIS, formerly of the Imperial University of Tokyo. $2 net; by mail, $2.10

A study of the internal political forces of Japan. It contains a deal of interesting and valuable information concerning a ruler and a people that have always been mysterious to the other nations of the earth. The author enjoyed friendships with the Emperor Mutsuhito, with feudal lords, statesmen and soldiers to an extent rarely attained by an American. These, together with long years of study of her people, have fitted Dr. Griffis to write authoritatively on his subject.

By GEORGE MCLEAN HARPER, Professor of English in Princeton University. $1 postpaid

This book furnishes the proofs that Wordsworth acknowledged the daughter who was born to him by a Frenchwoman, Marie-Ann Vallon during his residence in France in 1792. Professor Harper after long research in the archives of Paris, Orleans and Blois has discovered the certificates of her birth and marriage, in both of which her father's name occurs. These documents are printed in full, with translations, and supplemented with much additional information about the Vallon family and the part they played in the Revolution.

"Michelangelo's Sonnets"; "Balzac's Human Comedy"; "The Fame of Victor Hugo"; and "Wordsworth's Love Poetry." In spite of their wide range the author displays a sure knowledge of his subjects, together with a keen critical sense of their value. He believes that the vital quality in all literature is poetry; that there is often as much poetry in an argument as in a sonnet; that criticism is valuable chiefly when it partakes of the essence of poetry, and he expresses the hope that the readers of these eight essays will take them as appreciations of poetry.

Kentucky Superstitions

By the late DANIEL L. THOMAS, Professor of English in Centre College, and LUCY B. THOMAS.

$3 net; by mail, $3.15

Superstitions are more widespread than most people suspect, and nowhere in this country are they more prevalent and persistent than in Kentucky. This collection puts the large majority of them permanently on record and as a result is not only a record of what men have thought and believed, but constitutes a valuable contribution to both history and psychology. Beginning with the pre-natal period the superstitions cover practically every phase of human activity until life ends.

The Quest of the Ballad

By W. ROY MACKENZIE.
Illustrated. $2 net; by mail, $2.10.

The author is Professor of English at Washington University. It has been his custom to pass his summers in Nova Scotia where he has become acquainted with the fisher folk and prevailed upon them to sing to him the songs learned from their parents and grandparents. Not always an easy task, however, and one which led to many an odd and interesting adventure. The author has recorded the adventures and the songs, making a story which appeals to anyone susceptible to the lure of quaint romance.

Nova Scotia is the sole remaining home of the ballad singers. And the ballads Mr. Mackenzie has quoted will reveal the origins of many of the old songs we sang as children. Pictures of the ballad singers and their homes add to the charm of this book.

In fact it was partly in type when the Germans invaded Belgium in 1914 and destroyed the university buildings. The New York Times refers to Charlemagne as "a literary find of the first importance."

The Book of the Tuesday Evening Club

Alfred Noyes, visiting Professor of English at Princeton, prefaces the work with an essay on the modern tendencies in American verse. There are over one hundred and thirty poems in the collection which the New York Evening Post characterizes as "far better than any similar publication of the last few years." Much poetry is being written these days, and the poems in this volume will not suffer from a comparison with any of it. As Dr. van Dyke says in his preface, these young poets "follow the ancient rule that poetry must be musical in order to carry its meaning deep into the human heart."

Volume I contains a full and interesting account of his life.

Philosophy and Civilization in the Middle Ages

By MAURICE DE WULF, Professor of Philosophy in the University of Louvain. $3 net; by mail, $3.15

Louis Clark Vanuxem Foundation.

The study of mediaeval philosophy has undergone considerable change in recent years, and the developments in this field of research have been important. Few men are as well qualified to discuss these changes and developments than the author of this volume. Some of the chapter headings are: "Survey of Civilization in the Twelfth Century," "The Civilization as Reflected in Philosophy," "The Great Awakening of Philosophy in the Thirteenth Century," "Unifying and Cosmopolitan Tendencies," "A Pluralistic Conception of the World," "The Conception of Human Progress."

The Religion of Plato

By PAUL ELMER MORE. $3 net; by mail, $3.15

Mr. More has in mind a series of studies on the origins and early environment of Christianity and on various modern revivals of philosophic religion. Platonism (listed below) he regards in the light of an introduction to this series. The Religion of Plato is presented as volume one; volume two will deal with Hellenistic philosophies, principally Epicureanism, Stoicism, and Neoplatonism; volume three with Christianity; and volume four will contain a number of essays on fundamental questions raised in the course of the foregoing studies.

The author believes that Greek literature, philosophic and religious, pagan and Christian, from Plato to the Council of Chalcedon in 451 A. D., is essentially a unit and follows at the center a straight line. This body of thought he calls the Greek Tradition. It is this tradition, Platonic and Christian at the center, this realization of an immaterial life, once felt by the Greek soul and wrought into the texture of the Greek language, that lies behind all our Western philosophy and religion. Without it, Mr. More believes, we should have remained barbarians; and, losing it, we are in peril of sinking back into barbarism.

Platonism

By PAUL ELMER MORE. $3 net; by mail, $3.15

Louis Clark Vanuxem Foundation.

The former editor of The Nation and author of "Shelburne

Essays" interprets to this age the philosophy of the ancient Greek with the beauty and power of kinship in culture. Perceiving that the dogmas of religion have lost their hold, while philosophy has become a mere quibbling of specialists, he goes back to Plato himself, clearing away the accumulated rubbish of criticism.

Abundant marginal references are given, to guide the reader who wishes to explore the Greek texts or translations. An important feature of this work of sparkling scholarship is a classification of the Platonic Dialogues in a "Suggested Order of Reading."

The Philosophy of Religion

By the late ALEXANDER T. ORMOND, President of Grove City College. Foreword by Woodrow Wilson.

$2 net; by mail, $2.10

Before becoming President of Grove City College, Dr. Ormond was for many years Professor of Philosophy in Princeton University. This volume comprises a series of lectures which were to be delivered on the Elliott Foundation at the Western Theological Seminary but death claimed their author before this engagement was carried out. Dr. Ormond, however, was so well prepared to discuss the fundamental problem of the relations of philosophy and religion that the lectures were read after his death before the students and faculty of the Seminary and are now given to the public as worthy companions to the other members of this series of lectures.

POLITICS AND GOVERNMENT

Timely Topics

By THEODORE W. HUNT, Professor of English, Emeritus, Princeton University. $2 net; by mail, $2.10

A series of vital discussions of vital topics,—those of a fundamental and permanent interest in the rapidly developing life of the modern world. The object of these papers is to assume a desirable and tenable position between radical extremes, and in a sane and sensible manner to investigate and interpret those pressing and practical problems which confront the country and the civilized world at large.

The Constitution and What It Means Today

By EDWARD S. CORWIN, Professor of Jurisprudence in Princeton University. $1.50 net; by mail, $1.60

The title describes the book exactly; it contains the full text of the Constitution of the United States, with simple explanations of all passages as interpreted from the time of the adoption of this great document,—the cornerstone of our government. And what it means today and what it meant originally are two very different propositions. Every intelligent American should in the interests of better citizenship possess the information contained in this book.

Modern Constitutional Development in China

By HAROLD M. VINACKE, Professor of Political Science in Miami University. $2 net; by mail, $2.10

Prior to the end of the Nineteenth Century China had been politically in a state of suspended animation. An emperor ruled the land and the sway of one barbarian after another was imposed upon the "sons of Han." Then within less than twenty years the whole political situation was changed. The author traces these changes, tells how they came about, and what their effect has been. When the eyes of the world are focussed on the Far East as they are at present, a knowledge of governmental conditions in the most populous country on earth is of prime importance.

Modern Political Tendencies

By the Hon. Theodore Burton, Congressman from Ohio.
$1.25 net; by mail, $1.35

The changing relation of the State to the activities of the individual; the growth of the spirit of nationality; new relations of government to the activities of the people; tendencies toward removal of inequalities in conditions,—socialism; humanitarian tendencies; increasing taxes and their utilization; the result of the war upon political tendencies in the United States.

These are some of the topics discussed by the author who is a keen student of history and an authority on the political institutions not only of his own country, but many others as well. His definite suggestions for remedying existing faults should be of particular value.

The Relation of the Executive Power to Legislation

By Henry Campbell Black. $1.60 net; by mail, $1.70

Mr. Black lives in Washington, D. C. and is editor of "The Constitutional Review." He is a recognized authority on constitutional law and is in a position to know at first hand what the President and Congress are doing. He discusses their respective powers as they were, as they are today and makes pertinent suggestions for removing the criticism of those people who think the proper balance between the two has been destroyed.

Should the President wait upon Congress and do only what it authorizes him to do, be subordinate to Congress save only to the extent to which his personal influence may prevail? If not, is he an independent agency and may he in many important matters take the initiative?

There are numerous quotations from many of the most eminent authorities.

Socialism and American Ideals

By WILLIAM STARR MYERS, Professor of Politics in Princeton University. $1 net; by mail, $1.06

Professor Myers is a well known and popular lecturer on current events. In this book he attempts to combat the threatened spread of Socialism by showing that it kills initiative and ambition, is absolutely opposed to the principles of Americanism as set forth in our constitution, and furthermore that it is un-Christian and also contrary to the teachings of the Jewish religion. A forceful statement of the opposition's case against Socialism which is too little known to the majority of people. It is brim full of facts that will stand one in good stead during an argument, facts that should be better known in these days of irresponsible and unchecked radicalism.

The President's Control of Foreign Relations

By EDWARD S. CORWIN, Professor of Jurisprudence in Princeton University. $1.50 net; by mail, $1.60

Mr. Corwin is a recognized authority on precedent in American political history, and on international law. At Princeton he is McCormick professor of jurisprudence, the chair formerly occupied by Woodrow Wilson.

Professor Corwin's historical and analytical examination of the powers of President and Congress throw much light on recent events and give valuable information on the question of the constitutionality of the League of Nations. It is a useful and timely book.

"We know of no other treatise on this important subject so well calculated to inform the average intelligent citizen, as well as to guide and assist the statesman."—New York Tribune.

National Strength and International Duty

By THEODORE ROOSEVELT $1 net; by mail, $1.06

The exhortations of 1917, are now documents in our history. Col. Roosevelt's characteristically vigorous arraignment of unpreparedness helped arouse America to a moving sense of its dereliction in duty to the rest of the civilized world.

The lesson of this strong text is still needed in America—especially the eloquent and forceful exposition of the necessity of military training for all our young men as a guaranty against aggression.

The reviews of this book are as varied in tone as the newspapers' opinions of Mr. Roosevelt, but they all agree that it is completely characteristic of him in its outspoken manner, its directness and its vigor.

American Government and Majority Rule

By Edward Elliott $1.25 net; by mail, $1.35

A plea for greater simplicity in our form of government. It outlines the causes which led the framers of the Constitution to inaugurate the system of checks and balances, showing that these causes exist no longer. There is a strong plea for the modification of our present form of government in the direction of simplicity, on the ground that the United States can in no other way secure governmental efficiency.

The Military Obligation of Citizenship

By Major General Leonard Wood.

Illustrated. Third printing, $1 net; by mail, $1.06

General Wood presents the nation's case for preparedness. His arguments are based on historical facts and the conclusions based on our military history are convincing in the extreme. He has made no attempt whatsoever to give personal views. Theodore Roosevelt said of this book, "I wish it could be circulated through all ranks of good American citizens. The lesson he [General Wood] seeks to teach is the lesson of all others most important for this nation to learn."

The Doctrine of Judicial Review: Its Legal and Historical Basis, and Other Essays

By Edward S. Corwin, Professor of Jurisprudence in Princeton University. $1.25 net; by mail, $1.35

Five kindred essays which are contributions to American constitutional history and the result of most fruitful investigations on the part of the author. The volume is stimulating, scholarly, trenchant in style and optimistic in tone.

"Mr. Corwin displays a peculiarly keen critical power. His ability of analyzing, criticizing and weighing historical conclusions and legal doctrines which have gained the support of general credence is certainly unusual, not to say brilliant"—American Law Review.

The Prosecution of Jesus: Its Date, History and Legality

By RICHARD WELLINGTON HUSBAND, Professor of Classical Languages in Dartmouth College.

$2 net; by mail, $2.10

Professor Husband has made a study of the criminal cases in which Cicero acted as attorney. This led to an examination of cases in which there was a conflict between Roman and Jewish law. The most important was the trial of Jesus. The author's study of it led him to disagree with many other students as to various points in connection with it. He holds that there was no illegality in the circumstances under which the arrest was effected, and that the hearing by the Sanhedrin was legal, as was the course of the trial in the Roman court.

This is not a religious book but one dealing with the legal aspects of the trial.

Foreigners in Turkey: Their Juridical Status

By PHILIP MARSHALL BROWN, Professor of International Law and Diplomacy in Princeton University; formerly Secretary and Chargé d'Affaires of the American Embassy in Constantinople, and Minister to Honduras.

$1.25 net; by mail, $1.35

The rights and privileges of foreigners in Turkey are little known, but should be of particular interest to Americans at this time.

"It is in every sense a valuable addition to the literature of International Law."—American Law Review.

"Not equalled in the qualities of thoroughness and exact legal presentation by anything else that is available to the reader."—Review of Reviews.

"Of the many favorable impressions created by this book, perhaps two most deserve reading. One is the value of its contribution to our knowledge, and the other is the exceptionally scholarly manner of its presentation."—American Political Science Review.

SOCIAL BETTERMENT AND EDUCATION

The Defective Delinquent and Insane: The Relation of Focal Infections to their Causation, Treatment and Prevention.

By HENRY A. COTTON, M.D., Medical Director, New Jersey State Hospital at Trenton.

Foreword by ADOLF MEYER, M.D., Director of the Henry Phipps Psychiatric Clinic, Johns Hopkins University.

Illustrated. $3 net; by mail, $3.15

Louis Clark Vanuxem Foundation.

The evaluation of focal infections is an outstanding contribution of twentieth century medicine and Dr. Cotton is among the foremost of those who are pushing to its logical end the freeing of the organism from these insidious dangers. He appears to have brought out palpable results not attained by any previous or contemporary attack on the grave menace of mental disorders.

As the science of medicine develops it is becoming more and more necessary that the public be informed of its progress, especially with regard to the prevention and avoidance of disease, and with regard to legislation designed to prevent carelessness on the part of unthinking members of the community. The defectives and insane are among us in ever-increasing numbers and we owe it to ourselves and to the community to familiarize ourselves with the means of combating this growing threat to our civilization. Dr. Cotton has stated the case in this volume so that laymen and physician alike can read with understanding and profit. Numerous records of actual cases treated add much to the interest and value of the book.

Human Efficiency and Levels of Intelligence

By HENRY H. GODDARD.

Fourth Printing. $1.50 net; by mail, $1.60

Louis Clark Vanuxem Foundation.

The author is Director of the Bureau of Juvenile Research of Ohio. Formerly he was in charge of the training school for feeble minded girls and boys at Vineland, N. J. A pioneer in the field of using psychological tests for practical results he discusses in this book many present day problems from a new angle and suggests solutions different from any usually offered. He believes that any attempt at social adjustment which fails to take into account the determining character of the intelligence —or mental level—and its unalterable grade in each individual is illogical and inefficient.

The War and Education

By ANDREW F. WEST, Dean of the Graduate School, Princeton University. Including the address delivered on Bastile Day 1918 by M. Laferre, Minister of Public Instruction for the Republic of France.

$1 net; by mail, $1.06

The Great War has taught us many things. It has indicated many others which we could learn with profit; in regard to education for instance, for what has been taught the youth of the world in the various schools and colleges had more influence on the war than most of us imagine. Dean West points out some of the lessons we should take to heart in this country.

Ameboid Movement

By Asa A. Schaeffer, Professor of Zoölogy in the University of Tennessee.
Illustrated. $1.75 net; by mail, $1.85

The author has two objects in presenting this account of his investigations of ameboid movement: the first is to offer the latest material on the subject in a convenient form for the student of medicine, the psychologist, the physiologist, the evolutionist and the general biologist; the second is to present the thesis that moving organisms in which orienting organs are absent or not functioning, always move in orderly paths, i.e., in helical or true spiral paths.

Heredity and Environment in the Development of Men

By EDWIN GRANT CONKLIN, Professor of Biology in Princeton University. Fourth Edition, rewritten and revised.
Illustrated. $2.50 net; by mail, $2.60

The origin of species was probably the greatest biological problem of the past century; the origin of individuals is the greatest biological subject of the present one. As the doctrine of evolution wrought great change in prevalent beliefs regarding the origin and past history of man, so present studies of development are changing opinions as to the personality of man and the possibilities of improving the race. There is probably no other subject of such vast importance to mankind as the knowledge of and the control over heredity and development. Nor are there many subjects more interesting. And Professor Conklin does not talk to the scientific gallery over the heads of his audience. Any one can read this book with pleasure as well as profit.

In this latest edition considerable new material has been introduced which will serve to elucidate further some of the questions discussed, as well as to give results of more recent work. In addition to the large sale this book has had among general readers, it is being used as a textbook or for supplementary reading in over thirty colleges and universities and by many reading circles and is now without doubt the recognized authority in its field. Its marked success goes to prove two things: popular interest in the subject and successful treatment by the author.

Wasp Studies Afield

By PHIL and NELLIE RAU.
Illustrated. $2 net; by mail, $2.10

This volume of more than 400 pages, with 69 illustrations, is a distinct contribution to entomological knowledge, and is also a nature book of delightfully readable quality. Mr. and Mrs. Rau have watched the wasps at work and at play, and report their observations with a pretty combination of scientific accuracy and the sympathetic imagination without which science cannot attain its full possibilities of fruitfulness.

A special feature of this text, besides its study of species not hitherto fully reported and the description of an interesting series of experiments, is the concluding chapter on heredity. place memory, and instinct.

"Under the magic of their pens the wasps become more notable than most men and skepticism as to the actual intelligence of these marvelous creatures is impossible. No lover of nature can afford to omit reading "Wasp Studies Afield."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Critique of the Theory of Evolution

By THOMAS HUNT MORGAN, Professor of Experimental Zoology in Columbia University. 95 illustrations.

$1.50 net; by mail, $1.60

The scope of this book is thus defined in its preface:

"In the first lecture an attempt is made to put a new valuation on the traditional evidence of evolution. In the second lecture the most recent work on heredity is dealt with, for only characters that are inherited can become a part of the evolutionary process. In the third lecture the physical basis of heredity and the composition of the germ plasm stream are examined in the light of new observations; while in the fourth lecture the thesis is developed that chance variation combined with a property of living things to manifold themselves is the keynote of modern evolutionary thought."

"Darwin gave us a knowledge of the facts of evolution, Mendel introduced us to the method of inheritance, and Morgan advances us a long way in understanding the mechanism."—Yale Review.

The Embryology of the Honey Bee

By JAMES ALLEN NELSON, Expert, Bee Culture Investigations, Bureau of Entomology, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Illustrated. $2 net; by mail, $2.10

"His account of the work done by others is accurate and, while preserving his own point of view, he displays in his criticism the admirable quality of abstaining from personal remarks which so often mar the pages of scientific papers. Dr. Nelson's is the first comprehensive monograph which has ever been printed on the embryology of the honey bee. It will be of great value both to the investigator, and the student and we should be truly grateful to its author for having presented us with a work of such high standard."—Science.

Princeton Lectures $1.00 a year

The Princeton Lectures were inaugurated in the spring of 1920. They are written by members of the Princeton faculty and their purpose is to permit Princeton alumni to share in the fruits of the researches of Princeton professors and to keep in touch with the work being done by these men in the various branches of learning. In other words, Princeton University feels that her responsibility does not end when a student graduates; that so long as he lives she wants to supply him with those things which will furnish him mental stimulus and an acquaintance with the progress and trend of intellectual thought. The lectures are mailed free of charge to all graduates of Princeton University.

There are four lectures a year, and the "outside" demand has grown so large that it has been made possible for any person or institution not connected with Princeton to receive them upon payment of the nominal subscription fee of one dollar. This fee is designed merely to cover the cost of printing and distribution. The lectures are printed, published, and distributed by the Princeton University Press, where subscriptions should be sent together with all notices of changes of address.

The Princeton Theological Review

Edited by the Faculty of Princeton Theological Seminary.

A journal devoted to the interests of theological science and literature, and conducted as an organ for the exposition and maintenance of the principles of the reformed theology.

Published quarterly by the Princeton University Press. Subscription price, $2 a year.

The Princeton Alumni Weekly

Published weekly during the college year by the Princeton University Press. Illustrated. Contains news and special articles of interest to University Alumni. Circulation over 9000. Subscription price, $5 a year. Advertising rate card on application.

The Annals of Mathematics

Published Quarterly, $3.00 a year

The Annals of Mathematics was founded in 1884 by Professor Ormond Stone of the University of Virginia. Since 1911 it has been published under the auspices of Princeton University.

The principal object of the Annals is the publication of the results of research in mathematics, but expository and historical articles are included from time to time as suitable material becomes available.

Each volume consists of approximately 300 pages, and is issued quarterly, the volume commencing with the September number.

The subscription price is $3.00 a year, payable in advance. Single numbers may be purchased separately at $1.00 each. In accordance with an arrangement under which the Mathematical Association of America contributes to the cost of publication, members of this association may subscribe at one half the regular rates.

The Low Cost of Reading

"I am paying $12 nowadays for shoes that I purchased a few years ago for $5 or $6; a suit of clothes costs me $70 or $80, which I used to get for about $30; my butcher and grocery bills are at least doubled; and I have to pay a great deal more for my theater tickets," said an experienced book publisher the other day. "The cost of making books has about doubled in the last eighteen months.

Yet for a book that we once put out at $1.50 the public now pays $1.75 to $2.00."

It is more necessary than ever to read good books. How fortunate that their price has increased far less than that of other necessities.

FOREWORD

THE name "RAND McNALLY" has come to be synonymous with the best children's books published. The mention of the name instantly calls to mind books carefully written, beautifully illustrated, and competently edited—books whose attractive bindings lead the youngsters to explore the rich treasure-trove between the covers and which are in keeping with the high class literature this firm publishes for young people.

Helping the child to form a love for good reading is one of the most important factors in his development. With this in mind we have built up a list of standard juveniles suitable to all ages from the wee tots in kindergarten to those in high school. Among our best known titles is the Windermere Series—a collection of classics with which every boy and girl should be familiar. To this series we have this year added Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea. Two old favorites have also been added to the New Junior Library, Grimm's Fairy Tales and Robinson Crusoe.

Another important book this year is the Illustrated Bible Story Book. These stories are so unique in their treatment and so attractive in make-up that we believe they will prove extremely popular with the children.

We also have to offer another Little Bear story by Margaret Frances Fox called Little Bear's Playtime and Elizabeth Gordon has added a new title to her Loraine Series.

Although we are justly proud of our Juveniles, our other lines must not be lost sight of. The grown-ups will be especially interested in Secrets of the Balkans by Hon. Charles J. Vopicka, Ex-Minister to the Balkan States during the World War. Our Atlases and Guides have all been revised and to the latter, Guides to Alaska and Detroit have been added.

For those who love the "open road" our Auto Trail Maps have proven the most authentic and convenient on the market.

JUVENILE ALPHABETICAL LIST

A B C MOTHER GOOSE. By W. A. Frisbie. Illustrated by "Bart." Printed in colors. Cloth, size, 9¾ x 12 inches, 60 pages. Price $1.50

The author has combined some original verses with the well-known Mother Goose rimes in a way that will greatly delight the children. It is printed from large, clear, readable type on extra heavy paper and bound in cloth.

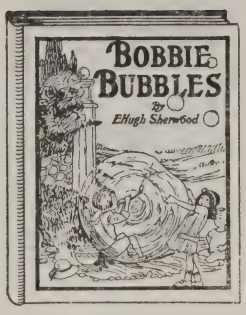
ADVENTURES OF A BROWNIE. By Dinah Mariah Mulock Craik. Illustrated with 4 full-page color plates, 8 half pages in color, and a number of black line drawings by Milo Winter. Size, 6½ x 9 inches, 120 pages. Bound in cloth with side stamp, paster and colored wrapper. Price $1.50

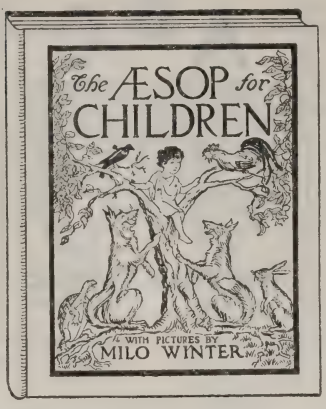
A mischievous, jolly little Brownie lived in a coal bin in the cellar of the home of three little boys and three little girls, who alone knew of his being there. Such good fun they all had together and such pranks Brownie played on the Cook and the Gardener! If anyone doubts the existence of fairies and brownies, they will be entirely convinced upon reading these stories. The color plates by Milo Winter make this edition exceedingly attractive and one which every child will treasure.

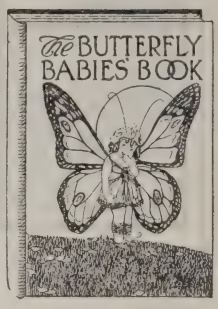
ADVENTURES OF SONNY BEAR. By Frances Margaret Fox. With many full-page illustrations in color and innumerable drawings in black and white by Warner Carr. Boards, size, 6 x 7½ inches, 80 pages. Price 75 cents

This collection of little stories about Sonny Bear and his big, big father and middle-sized mother is ideal. Not only is the style unusually winning but the characters as well are to be loved dearly. Unfailing good-humor, tenderness, and sympathy are displayed by all members of the family, and so appealing and altogether pleasant are the simple virtues made to appear that the little book is positively inspiring.

* New titles indicated by an asterisk.







ÆSOP FOR CHILDREN, THE. With 12 full-page color plates and 100 text drawings in color, by MILO WINTER. Cloth, size, 9¾ x 12 inches, 112 pages. Price $2.00

"I want to tell you how very much the children of our Demonstration School are enjoying the new 'Æsop For Children.' To me its greatest value lies in its pictures. It is the best thing Milo Winter has ever done and is charming, both in drawing and in color. The children love to dwell upon the animal pictures, for they are full of humor and child-like interest. The color is most unusual."—GRACE HEMINGWAY, National Kindergarten College, Chicago.

"These old friends, the lamb and the wolf, from the old fables, along with hosts of others, have been brought to life in line and color by Milo Winter for Rand McNally's gorgeous edition of Æsop's Fables, the finest piece of illustrated work published in this country this year."—CHICAGO HERALD-EXAMINER.

BILLY ROBIN AND HIS NEIGHBORS. By CLARA INGRAM JUDSON. With 10 full-page illustrations in color and 22 in black and white by WARNER CARR. Boards, size, 6 x 7½ inches, 76 pages. Price 75 cents

A revelation of backyard garden life that every child should have. With the coming of the inquisitive toad the dank neglected garden becomes alive with soft spring noises and fragrant with the atmosphere of growing things. The robin, the bee, the cellar-mouse, the spider, and the hornet, all come forth to work and play in the garden. What they talk about and do are enough to make any child a real lover of nature.

This is a delightful little story of the dream adventures of a little boy journeying through the skies in a bubble. It is prettily conceived, full of color and movement, and teeming with odd situations and harmless excitement. Interwoven with the story is much instructive matter. The book is profusely illustrated with line drawings and color as fairy-like as the story itself.

BUTTERFLY BABIES' BOOK, THE. By Elizabeth Gordon. With 63 illustrations in color by "Penny" Ross. Boards, size, 6½ x 9 inches, 80 pages. Boxed. Price $1.25

Not even the Glorious Fourth means more to a child than does the excitement of circus day. The author has evidently not forgotten the thrills of that big event herself for her story is alive with the spirit of the day. The other adventures are equally well told, and the colored illustrations make the book most attractive.

DOINGS OF LITTLE BEAR. By FRANCES MARGARET FOX. With 14 full-page drawings in color and 21 in black and white by WARNER CARR. Boards, size, 6 x 7½ inches, 80 pages. Price 75 cents

A Doll to Make

A series of delightful and captivating folk stories of other lands, written by a woman who has devoted her life to the education and happiness of children. The dolls are easily made, and furnish employment and amusement for little hands.

The Radio-Phone Boy Stories

By James Craig

The author of these books was for years manager of a telephone system. During the war he did electrical work behind the lines in France. Since that time he has had active interest in the developments of radio. The facts regarding electricity and the radio-phone as presented in his books are reliable. This series represents the first boys' books on the RADIO-PHONE. They will be big sellers from the jump. There are three titles. [Titles 1 and 2 ready July 1]

Mystery Stories for Boys

By Roy J. Snell

Roy J. Snell, author of the Mystery Stories for Boys and the Adventure Stories for Girls, was graduated from college in 1906. Since that time he has had three years of post-graduate work—one year at Harvard and two at the University of Chicago. His ideas about books for boys and girls are backed by these years of study and his stories throb with action and adventure. There are five of the Mystery Stories for Boys.

1 Triple Spies
2 Lost in the Air
3 Panther Eye
4 The Crimson Flash
5 White Fire
Per vol. $1.00 net.

Adventure Stories for Girls

By Roy J. Snell

There used to be a theory that girls' books "had to be different." Girls themselves have exploded that theory a thousand times by preferring boys' adventure stories to the weakened-down variety "for girls." These stories have not been "weakened down." They are clean, wholesome and worth while, but deal with the real interests of the girl of today. Adventure, mystery and the big outdoors make up the action. There are two titles.

2 The Cruise of the O'Moo

A Rarely Beautiful Book

All That Matters

By

Edgar A. Guest

With Pictures

by

W. T. Benda	M. L. Bower
Frank X. Leyendecker	H. C. Pitz
F. C. Yohn	Harvey Emrich
Robert E. Johnston	Pruett Carter

This collection of poems embraces Mr. Guest's most notable work of recent years—1920, '21 and '22. Of the nearly three score poems, twenty-one are illustrated with full page pictures from paintings and drawings by a group of foremost American illustrators.

No other book of contemporaneous verse is embellished with so distinguished an array of artistic talent.

All That Matters

When all that matters shall be written down
And the long record of our years is told,
Where sham, like flesh, must perish and grow cold;
When the tomb closes on our fair renown
And priest and layman, sage and motleyed clown
Must quit the places which they dearly hold,
What to our credit shall we find enscrolled?
And what shall be the jewels of our crown?
I fancy we shall hear to our surprise
Some little deeds of kindness, long forgot,
Telling our glory, and the brave and wise
Deeds which we boasted often, mentioned not.
God gave us life not just to buy and sell,
And all that matters is to live it well.
